DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The reconstruction of this house has been completed recently. The result exemplifies one approach to the problems of preservation of structures. The framework of the house is original but, otherwise, modern materials have been used in place of the old throughout. It is basically a new house with an old shadow.

It appears on the 1860 and 1878 county maps near the Chew and Hopkins Store, and was a home of the Hopkins family for generations.

In the 20th century the house became a meeting place for the Boy Scouts, a Red Cross Center, and a community center for the West River area.
